I'm a computer engineer with a long-time interest in my favorite hobby - home automation. I'm a strong advocate of open standards. I recently designed and build my own open source home automation system, called NodeStack. In the future I'd like to build a web portal that provides automated remote network monitoring, alerts and control, as well as have it integrate with tools such as VeraLab. I also wrote a C# open source library - Wepard that can be used to quickly set up and manage Wifi networks with low power consumption. GPSmapRoute is a simple to use and highly configurable GPS track logger and route planner. Software can be run in your web browser or in your android phone/tablet as an app and it can be used at any given point. You can configure lots of settings like: - Can/Can't Route - Turn On/Off Logging - Length and Duration of Log - Forward/Backward direction - Routes between specific Points - Manual override and other useful settings Databases - MySQL - PostgreSQL - MSSQL - SQLite - SQL Server 2008 - Oracle - MS Access - MS Excel 2007/2010 - OpenOffice Calc/Base - OpenOffice Writer - OpenOffice Impress - OpenOffice Draw - OpenOffice Writer - OpenOffice Impress - OpenOffice Draw Import/Export - Any file type (PDF, DOCX, XLSX, XML, HTML, TXT, CSV, TSV, VCF, SVG) - Multiple files at once - CSV, TSV, VCF, XML, TSV - XML - CSV Pipes and filters (what you want) - Anything you can imagine - Anything you can imagine!
