But the United States had not yet discovered his future -- and Marquez needed to travel far to find it. "At that time, I had no idea that one day I would be playing in Major League Soccer," Marquez said. "I looked at the (soccer) calendar and the year was 2003, and I told myself, 'Maybe I can do it.' " After a trip to the U.S. to play for a week with a friend, Marquez decided to stay in the States. United and Portland Timbers before being traded to the New York Red Bulls in 2011. He was a key figure in the 2011 and 2012 CONCACAF Gold Cup championships, before returning to play for Los Angeles Galaxy in 2013. After a brief return to DC, Marquez found himself back in New York, with a contract that included a guaranteed salary, and before he knew it he was playing in a training camp with other young men who were also dreaming of d0c515b9f4
