AC & DC -GNU 4.2.0 (2010-07-17) From: "Nikita Pekarsky" To: gnuilib-announce_AT_lists.sourceforge.net Subject: GNU 4.2.0 (2010-07-17) Date: Tue, 17 Jul 2010 00:05:25 +0300 Announcing the release of GNU 4.2.0, a release which breaks backwards compatibility with GNU 4.1.2 and GNU 4.1.x. This release is required to port the glibc 2.15 library to the most recent glibc 2.15 port (sparc-softfloat) to use the required ASan/TSan/MSan tools. It also includes changes to support a new GNU license. This release contains a number of changes: * New license: GNU LGPL version 3 (like the rest of the GNU software). * Many bugfixes: the #include and.fini lines are cleaned up, the laxordering.h header now uses a standard autoconf function (autocfg), the macro _GNU_SOURCE_ is no longer used since it may be non-portable (any more), the fputs function is much more portable (no header definition), the glob function is extended to use a new configuration option (--without-libcomint), etc. * Changes: the coreutils and diffutils packages are now built using a configured version of gnutls (4.3.2), the -fsyntax-only option of gcc is now enabled by default, etc. * Features: many improved options for the gnuilib packages are now compiled-in, such as gcc -Wno-missing-declarations, -Wmissing-prototypes, -Wstrict-prototypes 04aeff104c
